j. The Introduction to CIA (ITCIA) Course was conducted from 9 - 13 December for 31 participants. A new segment to the ITCIA Course was "Counterintelligence: Individual Vulnerability" presented by an OTE instructor who also chairs the Agency task force on personal vulnerability training. It was very well received and stems from the increased awareness the individual employee's vulnerability. This running of the ITCIA was the first out of the Career Trainee (CT) Division.

1. The ninth increment of the Office of Strategic Services records, consisting of 92 cubic feet, has been transferred to the National Archives and Records Administration (NARA). This collection includes material on operations in Europe, miscellaneous records from Washington and field offices, and records relating to operations in the Mediterranean and Burma. The total volume transferred to NARA is now 1,326 cubic feet.

- p. The first phase of the Technology Transfer Assessment Center (TTAC) database upgrade effort for the Office of Scientific and Weapons Research (OSWR) has been completed. User training, acceptance testing and the final database conversion were completed this week and the customer has expressed very high satisfaction with the system so far. The objective of the upgrade was to improve OSWR's TTAC capability to provide intelligence information and analysis to Agency and Intelligence Community organizations on the transfer of U.S. technology to the Soviet Bloc. Because the existing system had no on-line update and had very cumbersome data correction procedures, data had become contaminated due to different spellings. The data conversion effort highlighted these inconsistencies. The new system provides software tools for easy data cleanup as well as an on-line update capability. The new system also features a powerful search capability using phonetic spelling.
- q. The 3090 Computer (SIERRA) has been installed in the Northside Center and is scheduled to be operational on 6 January. The Directorate of Intelligence users currently in the _____ Center are scheduled to be moved to this computer in Northside on 11 January.
- r. A complete and fully operational set of communications equipment that is the same as field installations and contractor sites, was installed in OIT's technical shop. This equipment will be used for training and demonstration purposes and, if necessary, can be deployed intact to the field to meet any emergency requirements.
- s. Allied Eastern Maintenance Corporation will begin the installation of microprocessor overlays and electronic door detectors on the 16 passenger elevators in the Headquarters Building during the first week of January. The Office of Logistics advises that these overlays and processors will improve the response time and provide for an emergency recall on elevators five and six in the "Red" elevator bank. Each elevator, one at a time, will be out of service for up to ten days to switch controls and conduct tests. The DCI elevator will not be affected by this work.
- t. The Allied Tiger Team, a crew of skilled laborers, i.e., carpenters, masons, etc., and appropriately cleared by the Office of Security to support Agency projects overseas, completed their first renovation project on 13 December for the Office of Communications.

u. The New Building Project Office/OL, contacted the Federal Highway Administration on 16 December regarding the status of the George Washington Memorial Parkway acceleration lane project. All of the new curbing is in place and some roadway surface preparation has been completed. Cold weather, however, has now become a factor. The contractor was not able to get the necessary asphalting done during last week's warmer weather and is faced with not being able to asphalt unless the surface temperature is 35 degrees Fahrenheit and rising. Asphalting is planned for 18 December, weather permitting. Although the project may not be completed by the 20 December extended deadline, it will be done as soon as conditions permit and will not go unfinished through the winter months.
